The dnr (tetracycline resistance) mutation results in the accumulation of the tetracycline resistance protein. In the present study, we analyzed the effects of tetracycline (TC) on the expression of selected genes in the wild-type and dnr cells. The results indicated that the level of expression of some genes such as adenylate cyclase and adenylate cyclase activator was markedly decreased after TC treatment, and the amount of 5'-nucleotidase activity in wild-type cells was significantly increased. On the other hand, the level of expression of genes such as genes involved in nucleic acid biosynthesis was decreased in dnr cells. In addition, the expression of these genes was decreased in dnr cells after TC treatment. These findings indicate that the occurrence of the dnr mutation affects the genes for the synthesis of nucleic acids and that TC treatment increases the level of expression of these genes.

Lyrics to 'No. 5' song by AaB
Where is the strength you need to hold on? I can feel you fade away. It could be a moment of hatred or maybe you're just confused and you can't tell. I've been crushed so many times, I've been battered and bruised. I've got a strong soul but I just can't seem to get myself together. I'm fading out where is the strength you need to hold on? I can feel you fade away. I will survive, no matter what you do, I can feel it in the bone. I'm fading out where is the strength you need to hold on? I can feel you fade away. It could be a moment of hatred or maybe you're just confused and you can't tell But I've been crushed so many times, 6d1f23a050
